Might Make To Handle The Affair.—Naval Forces To Join

tion That Is About To Territory.

Washington, D. C., March 7.—Rush orders for assembling 20,000 troops of all arms of the service along the Mexican border and gathering a big force of warships off the Texas coast was explained by the war department today as intended to disprove the claim the American army is not ready for sudden call to arms.

Troops Started.
Already most of the troops under orders are in motion and it is expected before the end of the week the entire force will be ordered there and less the United States immediately made adequate preparations to protect American and foreign interests in northern Mexico an appeal would be if it had not already been made, to Great Britain to do so.

Batteries Off.
Three batteries of field artillery now at Ft. Myer, Va., were ordered to proceed to the Mexican border in Texas.

ously ten companies of the 8th started

El Paso, Texas, March 7.—That a battle has taken place between Mad-ero's forces and the federal army
Col. Escobedo, in which the latter lost 250 killed and wounded was the assertion of couriers who reached here today.

They say the Madero forces ambushed the federal on the edge of a deep canyon fifteen miles west of Montemma.

eral troops are returning to the at-attempted to defame his wife's character.

NEXT PRESIDENT TO BE A PROGRESSIVE?

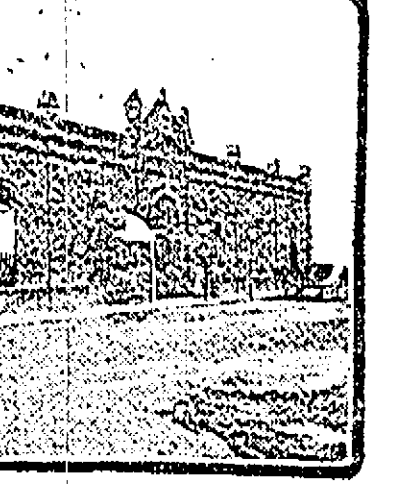

Leading Politicians of Ohio Believe
Progressive Will Be Candidate
In 1912.

Akron, Ohio, March 7.—Leading politicians of Ohio, President Taft's own state, declared today the address here last night at the banquet of republican progressives by Gifford Pinchot could only be construed as the inauguration of a movement to overthrow Taft and secure the nomination in 1912 of a progressive republican candidate for President.

MEXICAN PRISON AT JUAREZ.

AMERICAN HELD IN MEXICO AS SPY.

Edwin H. Blatt of Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—It will not be for lack of a sister's devotion if young Edwin H. Blatt of Pittsburgh does not get a fair trial in Mexico. Blatt, 20 years old, joined the Mexican rebels, was taken prisoner by the Federal troops, and is in the Juarez jail, accused of being a spy. His sister, Miss Emma Blatt, a typewriter in a Pittsburgh lawyer's office, has interested Secretary Knox in her brother's behalf and has employed counsel for him. She says:

"I have a few hundred dollars saved up, and I'll spend every penny to make sure that Eddie gets a square deal."

Admits Reports.

This secret military information caused Secretary of War Dickenson to admit today he was ordering the mobilization of six thousand troops along the Mexican border. He made no denial of the possible intention to send the troops across the border into Mexico itself.

May Be Warlike.

While every effort is made in official circles here to give a movement of troops towards the Mexican border the appearance of simple preparation for maneuvers, there are rumors the government was preparing for more serious eventualities.

Not Satisfactory.

OPPOSITION STOPS HEARING OF BILL

Clark Secures Postponement of Introduction of Referendum Bill Upon Hearing About Hostility.

Madison, Wis., March 7.—Unexpected opposition provided the real reason for Assemblyman Clark's action in securing postponement of the consideration of his peculiar referendum bill. The measure will come up next Wednesday evening, at which time the Oshkosh salon will be prepared to defend it against the attacks expected. The bill had been recommended for passage, but Mr. Clark heard whisperings of impending opposition and moved to lay it over.

The bill permits members of the legislature to institute at a regular election a referendum on any pending legislation upon which he desires to discover the attitude of his constituency. It is an optional matter with each legislator, under the bill, but several members have conceived the idea that it is compulsory. It also includes that it might operate to delay the session, which Mr. Clark is prepared to deny.

When the matter comes up in the assembly some interesting oratorical display may be expected. One or two members who so far have not taken the floor are said to be prepared to aid Mr. Clark in the defense of the bill, while there also are several who will oppose it just as vigorously.

BALLINGER RESIGNS HIS PLACE IN CABINET TODAY

WHITEHEAD DEFEATS RECOMMENDATION OF SENATE SOCIALISTS

Local Senator's Speech Kills Bill to Memorialize Congress in Russian Extradition Affairs.

Madison, Wis., March 7.—Let not the senate of the state of Wisconsin vote to memorialize congress to make of Russia a haven of refuge for the criminals of the country, a sure result to which the hand of American justice cannot reach.

This argument by Senator John M.
Whitehead of Janesville caused the defeat in the senate this morning of the social democratic resolution to ask congress to abrogate all extradition treaties between this country and Russia. On his motion the resolution was laid on the table and killed.

The social democratic members argued for it on the ground that Russia was using the extradition treaties as a means of persecuting political criminals, but Senator Whitehead showed that this evil was being corrected by American administration.

SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR FINALLY STEPS DOWN AND OUT OF TAFT'S OFFI- CIAL FAMILY.

WALTER FISHER IS NAMED

Chicago Man to Succeed Him—Change Will Be Effective at Once in the Report From Washington.

This Afternoon.
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., March 7.—Secretary Richard A. Ballinger of Washington today resigned as secretary of the interior and is to be succeeded by Walter L. Fisher of Chicago.

Secretary Ballinger tendered his resignation in a letter on January 19, basing it entirely upon the condition of his health. President Taft replied at once expressing confidence in Ballinger, his reluctance to accept the resignation, and requested the secretary to remain in office until the close of the session of congress.

Immediately upon the adjournment of congress Ballinger renewed his request that he be relieved at a date which he would determine.

Ballinger's resignation was accepted by the president today.

Walter L. Fisher of Chicago, who has been acting as assistant secretary of the interior, will succeed
Ballinger as secretary of the interior at once.

Fisher was born in 1864 and was educated at the University of Chicago. He has been in the employ of

ARGUMENTS WERE ALMOST HEATED

COMMON COUNCIL HAD WORDY SESSION LAST EVENING.

ALLEYS MUST BE CLEANED

Was the Verdict of the City Fathers To the City Health Officer and the Street Commissioner.

Arguments of considerable length, threatening at times to become heated, marked the session of the common council, and as a result of the discussion, that body has ordered that all public streets and alleys be cleaned. The order passed last evening by the city fathers in their regular meeting directs the city health officers to order all property owners to clean up alleys abutting on their property, and in case the business men fail to do so, the work is to be done by the street commissioner and charged to the property owners.

The city health officer was ordered to report on the results of the work at the next session of the city fathers.

Alderman Buchholz started the ball rolling for a "clean-up" of the city. He characterized some of the alleys in the downtown district as "high-toned dump heaps" and said that business men were sweeping the dirt from their stores out into the streets and alleys and dumping ashes and other refuse in the alleys. "Understand," said he, "that Janesville has a higher death rate than any other city in Wisconsin—as high as that of Chicago in fact. Now if the city health officer or the street commissioner does not see to it that these alleys are kept clean, I think City Attorney should attend to it."

The City Attorney, who was present took exception to this remark, stating that it was the duty of the council to see that the city officers performed their duties. The motion to have the streets cleaned was offered, Alderman Buchholz amending it that the city health officer should report at the next meeting.

Alderman Shortland suggested that it was a little early in the season to start the work as many of the ash piles were frozen up and the work could be done better in two or three weeks. His amendment, however, did not meet with favor with the council and the motion with Alderman Buchholz's amendment was adopted.

An unusual precedent was established by Alderman Evans of the Purchasing Committee in reading of a resolution of the Chief of the Fire Department for supplies, principally for the new auto, the Committee asking instructions of the council. The committee was instructed to make the purchases and on motion of Alderman Buchholz Chief Klein was ordered to keep a separate account of expenses for the auto.

The Purchasing Committee was also ordered to purchase one clapper saw and two steam dividers and two thirty inch underwheels, play phos. equipment asked for by the chief in his quarterly report, at a cost not to exceed fifty-five dollars.

Preparations were made for holding the city elections on the first Tuesday in April at the polling places in the various wards, the city clerk being ordered to put up the usual election notices about the city, insert a notice of election in the city paper and advertise for bids for the primary election ballot printing.

The purchase of four carloads of paving brick from the Burlington Paving Brick company was authorized at the meeting last night. The street assessment committee by Alderman Evans reported on quotations received from various companies. The Springfield Paving Brick company quoted prices on their product at a cent a yard cheaper than those put out by the Burlington company and the Springfield firm could not guarantee immediate delivery, the mayor and the majority of members held that in the Burlington brick would be cheaper.

Alderman Buchholz, a member of the street assessment committee, held out for the lower priced brick, saying that he had not looked over the committee report and recommendation when he signed it. The other nine members of the council agreed that it was best to avoid a complication of affairs which arose last summer when paving work on South Main street was held up for a considerable length of time because brick could not be secured. Buchholz was the only one voting "no" when the question was submitted to vote.

The report of the street assessment on sewers to be laid during the coming season was read, but further time was granted the committee before any action was taken on the report by the city fathers. The matter will be brought up at the next regular meeting.

Forrest Gower addressed the city fathers concerning a tax assessment against an engine owned by him, for which taxes had been paid in the town of La Prairie and afterwards in the city of Janesville. Gower claimed that the engine, part of a threshing outfit owned by him, had been brought to the city last winter and stored in a vacant lot on North Third street awaiting a general overhaul. He paid taxes on an assessment of $1200 on the machine, he claimed, and afterwards sold it for $700, while the assessment in the town of La Prairie, where it was generally taxed, was $300.

The matter had come up two months ago, according to Alderman Buchholz, and referred to the Second Ward alderman but no report on it had been made. It appeared, however, that the Second Ward alderman, was the one who had taken charge of it, and Alderman Scott, not having knowledge of the transaction, was not responsible for the delay in the report. It was finally decided that no action should be taken on the matter until the next meeting when the assessor should report.

The bonds of William Buchanan and James Buchanan for the contract for the work of putting up new street signs and replacing some of the old ones was presented, but the committee to whom it was referred was granted two weeks more to consider it.

Improvements on North Jackson street were ordered, the street assessment committee being authorized to fix the amount of assessment against owners of property abutting on the street for the laying of cement gutters along the street from Wall street to the railroad tracks and proceed with the work.

Alderman Rehfeld complained to the council that when the work of laying the main sewer was completed by the People's Construction company, a pile of steel plates, which the company had attempted to use for sheet piling, had been piled up and left at the corner of South High street and Western Ave. He asked what action could be taken as the plates stopped the flow of excess water through the gutters.

Later the alderman presented a resolution, which was adopted, to have the sheet piling removed by the street commissioner and charge the expense against the People's Construction company, holding a lien against the plates to insure payment.

An ordinance governing all the theatres of Janesville will probably be passed at the next meeting of the city fathers. A resolution instructing the city attorney to draw such an ordinance was passed last night. The purpose of such an ordinance was recommended by the chief of the fire department, particularly the five-cent shows, for the safety of the public.

Provisions ordinances regarding the closing and locking of exits have been declared null and void and in cases where prosecution has been started against theatre-owners for looking exits, conviction has been impossible. It is desired that an ordinance be passed that will stand in court.

Reports of the city marshal, city treasurer and the municipal court for February were received and placed on file and the report of the head of the city's night patrol was ordered published. The city fathers were made by the police department in February, according to the report of Chief George Apoloby. Thirty-five of those arrested were taken into court and twenty-three discharged. Arrests were made for the following offenses: Incestuous behavior, 3; gambling, 2; insanity, 1; larceny, 2; chicken stealing, 1; begging, 1; burglary, 2; drunk and disorderly, 1; drunkenness, 41. Officers making arrests were: Appleby, 8; John Brown, 8; Fanning, 9; Morrissey, 9; S. Brown, 9; Dorn, 9; Champion, 3; Dalton, 3.

Current bills were paid and the city clerk ordered to draw an order in favor of E. W. Fisher for $153.21 in payment for hay. The payment of $1,000 to County Treasurer A. M. Church as the sum due Rock county for one half of the saloon license money was ordered. In order to allow the railroad company to clean up an alley at the rear of lots 78 to 85 in Milburn's addition, running from Western Avenue to Riverside street, the city engineer was ordered to prepare and file with the city clerk the grade for the alley.

In filling in their right of way near the river the railroad company dumped dirt and gravel back of lots 81 and 85 and clogged the alley. At the request of the owner, the City Attorney took the matter up with the railroad and the railroad agreed to attend to the matter but asked until spring when the frost was out of the ground to do it in, as the work would then be much easier.

City Attorney Maxfield, who was instructed to take steps to secure the title to Lot No. 3 in Railroad addition, which the city desires for the western approach to the proposed Racine street bridge, reported that he had been unable to complete his work as M. G. Jeffers, one of the owners is out of town.

Petitions of William J. 1911 to move a house from the corner of Main and South Academy streets to Western Avenue and of William Baum to remove the structure from Lot No. 18, Dickson & Bailey's addition on South Main street to Lot No. 7, Norton's addition on South Third street, were granted.

PREPARING REPORT ON TAX PAYMENTS

City Treasurer James A. Fathers Checking Up Accounts to Make Out List of Delinquent Tax-payers.

Checking up the accounts of the tax-payers with the City of Janesville is keeping City Treasurer James A. Fathers very busy at present. In preparing his report of those who have not paid the tax assessment of 1910, a great deal of routine work is entailed in the process, as there are some thirty-three hundred accounts to be handled and they must be carefully checked over in order that there may be no mistakes in the report of the delinquent tax payments. The work requires several days to complete and the city treasurer has been working after hours in order to expedite its completion. The list of tax-payers is compared with the records of those who have made payments and the report of those who are indebted to the city made up from this comparison.

The number of delinquents this year is less than last year and the amount due for taxes unpaid is smaller than in 1910. Payments made during the month of January, which is the time set, and in February, when those who have not paid before may square themselves with the municipality by paying a small penalty, was larger than last year.

Spelled Her Sleep Word.

A little girl of four years was heard repeatedly murmuring a long word. Her father, thinking to please her, told her the meaning of it. She burst into tears. At last, with her mother's assistance, the father learned the meaning of her grief. "It was my word that I put myself to sleep with, and now you've spoilt it."—M. Leone in "An Englishman's Castle."

MUSICAL TREAT OF UNUSUAL QUALITY

Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra Prove to Be Masters in Art of Expression.

Muscle lovers of Janesville had a rare opportunity last evening in the visit of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, conducted by Emil Gilels, and the large number present testified their appreciation of the fact. Oberholzer needs no introduction to the people of the middle west, and he displayed his usual ease and skill in the assembling of the various instruments into a perfect whole. The lightness and grace of the various accompaniments were especially noteworthy.—In "Traumerei," for instance, the encore given by Carlo Fischer in the second part of the performance, the softest notes of the cello were only supported, not for an instant blurred, by the instruments accompanying. No less perfect were the numbers calling for the full strength of the orchestra. Schubert's magnificent "Unfinished Symphony," the "Peer Gunt" suite with its wonderful power of visualizing for the hearer the thoughts of the composer, the capricious second "Hungarian Rhapsody," adding every resource of orchestral effect, and the sublime Entr'acte and Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, all were held the auditors in their magic spell, the entire body of musicians acting in a perfect unison to the harmony of the conductor's thought. Especially vivid was the interpretation of the Imps chasing Peer Gunt. There was peer Peer Gunt, in the full realization of his worthlessness, trying to evade the Imps. There was the cackle of the Imps' satirical laughter each time he came nearer Peer Gunt. So hearty and long continued was the applause brought forth by this number that it was rendered again.

The soloists proved especially pleasing. The premier violinist, Richard Czerwinsky, is an artist of ability and technique, and proved himself a master of his instrument both in the beautiful "Meditation" from Thais, and in the exquisite encore with harp accompaniment which followed. The brilliant cadenzas of Henry J. Williams, the harpist, were eagerly listened for, and the rich strains of the cello, handled by Carlo Fischer, were heartily appreciated and applauded.

Noteworthy, indeed, was the mechanical precision of the performers. As the conductor's baton moved so moved the arms of sixteen violinists, the cellists and basses in perfect unison as if it were but one arm, and so perfect was each note that not a quiver of difference could be imagined much less heard.

It was an evening of heartfelt enjoyment to lovers of good music, and their enthusiasm is to be congratulated upon the high standard maintained by his programs as well as upon the perfection of the art with which his organization interprets the classics chosen. It is to be hoped that Janesville will again have an opportunity to express its appreciation of this musical organization from a sister state.

ORFORDVILLE MAN IS BEING SOUGHT

Norman Compton, Restaurant Proprietor, Missing and Wesley Jones' Hip is Gone With Him.

Leaving Orfordville about midnight last night with a horse and buggy rented from Wesley Jones of that place, Norman Compton, for the past year and a half a restaurant keeper in the village, has not been heard of since and it is feared he has disappeared with the rig, leaving behind him nothing but some bad debts. Jones today began a search for his property in nearby cities and towns. A show troupe which was in town is also being searched in advance for their board.

According to Jones, Compton hired a rig last evening, saying he intended to go about two miles in the country to take a young lady home. As Compton had done this before nothing was thought of the incident. But when the man did not return this morning it was feared something was amiss and the proprietor of the livery went to the restaurant to see if Compton was there. There was no sign of Compton and the key to the door of the eating house was hanging outside. Also a trunk which Compton had recently bought was gone. The show troupe, which have been making Orfordville their headquarters for three weeks, went to the place to get breakfast and found it deserted with nothing in the place to eat. They were able, however, to secure supplies and cooked their own meal.

Jones, notified Chief of Police Appleby of the disappearance of the rig this morning and later sent one of his men here. He described the outfit as consisting of a surrey with three white feet, weight about 1,000 pounds, new nickel-trimmed harness and a single buggy with red running gear. Officer Fanning visited the livery stable in this city but no trace of the rig was found. Jones' men, after calling at the chief's office, took the car for a hunt, as it was thought that Compton, who formerly lived there, might have gone to the Lake City.

The general impression is that Compton was in financial straits and, seeing an opportunity to get away, made good his escape. It is understood the medicine show company had paid him one hundred and fifty dollars, and taking this and his other possessions he left the village. The news of his departure spread quickly in the village and his creditors soon appeared on the scene.

Testing Popularities.

The Lyman H. Howe Travel Festival delighted a large audience at the "Crosby" last night, as it always does," says the Advertiser. The program, "each succeeding entertainment seems better than the others. Last night the audience was taken on a voyage in an airship and was given glimpses of scenery in France, Norway, China, street scenes in London, the building and launching of the steamship Olympic, but races, etc. Then there were the usual displays of comedy, which always bring hearty laughter. A series of views of prominent Americans in dissolving pictures served as a sort of test of popularity.—Taft was the first, receiving a fair reception. When Roosevelt was displayed there was no mistaking the sentiments of the audience. This was the signal for a hearty outburst. Bryan received some attention as did Uncle Joe Cannon and others. The name program of the Lyman H. Howe Travel Festival will be at the Myers Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, March 15-16, with a special school children's matinee Thursday at 4:00 o'clock.

Gentlemen: We note with interest your favor of the 14th relative to our American Steel Fence Posts.

It was not until after we had made every conceivable test for strength and long service that we put these posts on the market and you can readily see how foolish it would be for us to offer the trade an article which would not give entire satisfaction.

The posts which we furnish are fully strong enough to hold up any kind of fence when they are properly anchored and if it were not so, we could not afford to stand back of these posts as we do. UNCOVER PLOT TO ASSASSINATE TAFT

Three Men Are Arrested in Spokane, Wash.

ALL ALLEGED ANARCHISTS

Police Claim They Overheard Persons Making Plans to Kill Mayor Pratt, the President and Others.

Spokane, Wash., March 7.—In the arrest of three men here the police believe they have uncovered a plot of anarchists, not only to assassinate Mayor N. S. Pratt of Spokane, but President Taft and one or two others.

The men are also held on the charge of being implicated in the murder of Chief of Police Sullivan several months ago. The men are Stuart Moffett, John Steele and Andrew Johnson.

The police claim to have overheard a plot to kill Mayor Pratt on the eve of the municipal election, and to kill President Taft when he leaves the White House for his summer vacation.

All Are Anarchists. Moffett, the police say, was instigator of the Haymarket riots; Steele is an alleged anarchist leader, and Johnson is said to be the financial agent for the local band.

The suspects lived in a small room in the San Francisco hotel. Secret agents of the police have been in an adjoining room for several weeks past and had decided not to make the arrest until after today's election.

The overhanging of a conversation Sunday night, however, in which the assassination of Mayor Pratt was set for election eve or the day of election, caused the police to make the arrests. The three men have been under surveillance for a long time. The police have taken verbatim reports of the conversations held by the prisoners by having stenographers in adjoining rooms.

The hotel is a cheaply built house and the walls are thin.

Mayor Had Been Warned. Moffett is said to have three visits to the mayor's house only to find an armed guard. Mr. Pratt has been warned many times of a violent death at the same hands which killed Chief of Police Sullivan.

"We will get Taft when he leaves the White House for his vacation," is the statement. Captain of Detectives Burns says he overheard Moffett make. Detective Burns also has verbatim statements in which Steele was talking of his maneuvers after killing the police chief.

Steele is said to have been in correspondence with eastern anarchists. Johnson, the financial agent, had at least $800 in gold and bills carefully hidden about him when arrested.

The verbatim statements will be used as evidence.

One Train Load of Pianos for the Skavlem INAUGURAL PIANO CLUB

This gigantic piano deal, with which to inaugurate the event of the opening of the Skavlem club, was for Two Hundred Pianos. There is an average of 15 pianos to a car load. This means, that it will take nearly Fourteen solid car loads of pianos to fill this single order—or one train load. The freight alone will amount to over $800 00. Sixty-seven dollars and over a car load. Two hundred Pianos means something. Two Hundred chairs of a kind may not mean so much. Two Hundred suits or hats, or this or that, may not mean such a big deal—but Two Hundred pianos means something. In dollars and cents it is a deal involving 55 to 60 Thousand dollars, considered at their selling value. It is a deal for as many pianos as lots of good piano firms will require for two entire years' business. It is a deal that works more advantages to piano buyers, both in saving money and in terms of purchase than any other piano deal of which we have any knowledge.

The Price

$277⁵⁰

THE PAYMENTS

WEEK

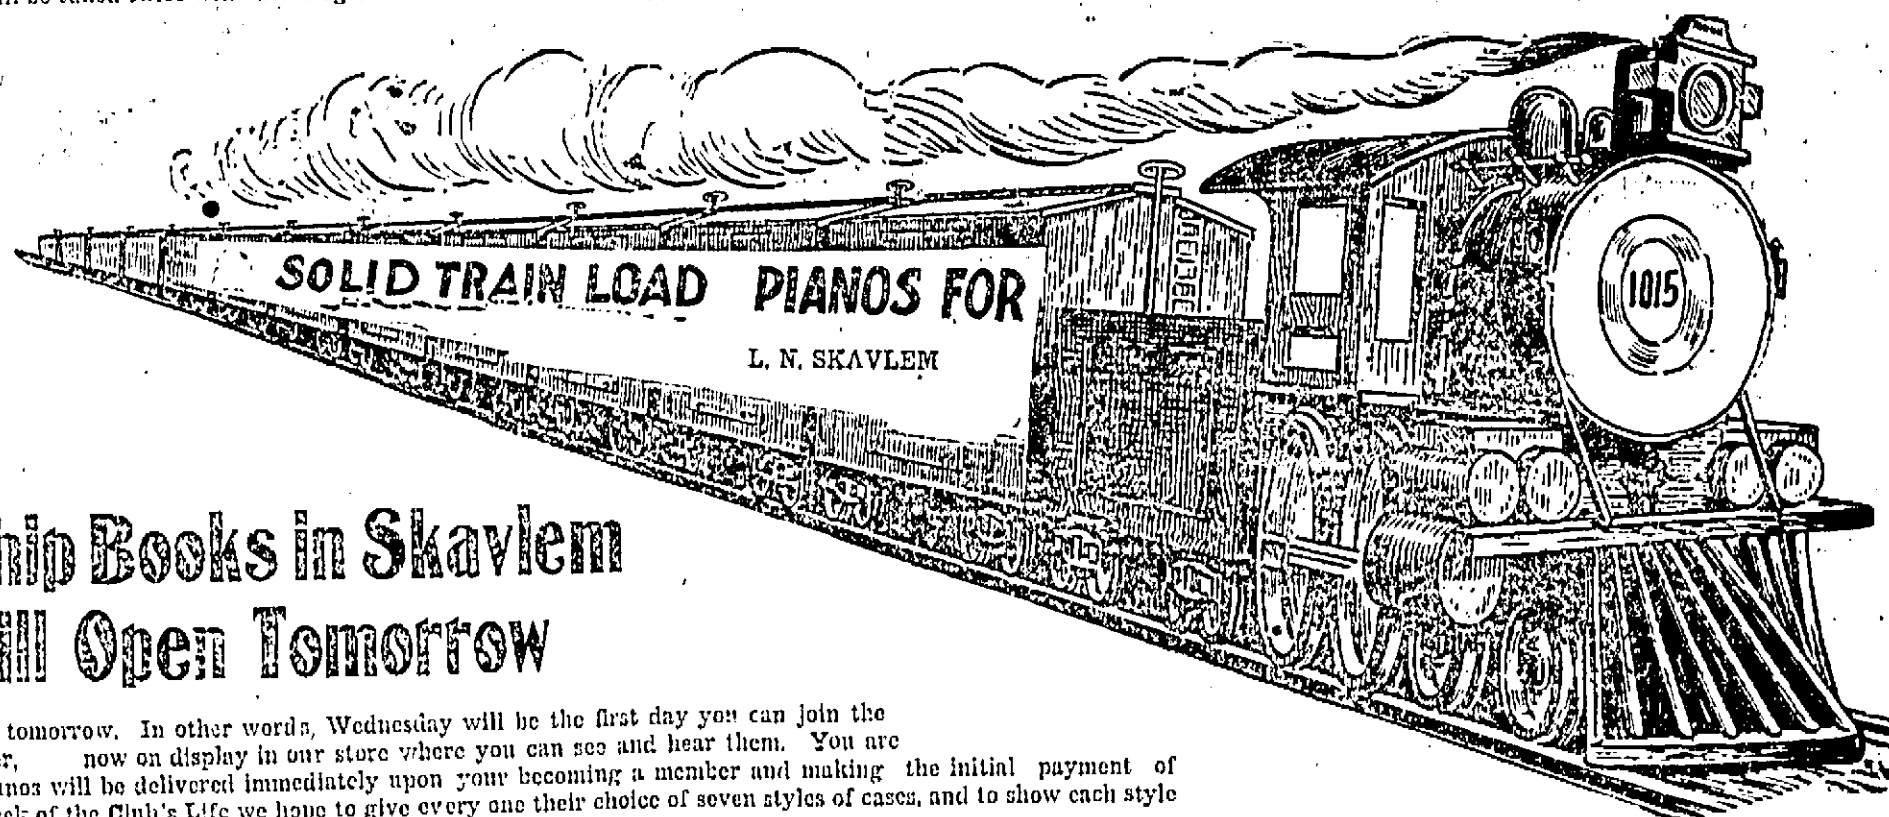

The pianos we bought in this gigantic deal are $375 pianos. There are two hundred of them. We are going to form a Club of 200 members to purchase them. This big club will not like one person, each member enjoying the same advantages and the same privileges. All will secure the same price, the same terms and the same conditions. The Club price will be $277.50, or a saving of $97.50 in money—to say nothing about the liberalities of terms and conditions of sale. This $97.50 is an actual saving. It is not an assumed or "make believe" saving—it is a real actual saving of $97.50 that can be used in defraying the expense of the musical education of the family or in any other way desired.

It's the power of numbers that makes this saving price possible—just as the railroad can afford to charge less when it runs excursions—because it carries more people.

Some of the Special Advantages and Privileges of Skavlem's Piano Club

Every instrument is guaranteed without reserve—for ten years. There are no "ifs" or "ands" in the guarantee—just a straight-out guarantee as strong as we know how to make it in writing. If after 30 days' trial the piano is not satisfactory we will give you your money back.

If the piano is satisfactory after 30 days' use, the Club Member has eleven more months in which to satisfy himself as the character of the piano. If it does not prove to be everything that he expects, he has the privilege of exchanging it without one penny's loss for any other instrument of equal or greater value that we sell—(and we sell many different representative makes). If a Club Member dies during the life of his contract we will immediately send a receipt in full to his family for the piano. A beautiful stool and scarf to match the piano is included without extra cost. The piano will be tuned twice without charge. Club members have an opportunity to still further reduce the cost of their piano by procuring other Club Members.

Membership Books in Skavlem Club Will Open Tomorrow

The Club books open tomorrow. In other words, Wednesday will be the first day you can join the club. The pianos, however, now on display in our store where you can see and hear them. You are cordially invited. The pianos will be delivered immediately upon your becoming a member and making the initial payment of $5.00. During the first week of the Club's life we hope to give every one their choice of seven styles of cases, and to show each style in three woods—Mahogany, Walnut and Quarter Oak.

THE DIFFERENCE.

Wisconsin has a set of pure food laws on its statutes that should be carefully gone over during the present session, strengthened where weak and carefully culled out where they conflict with the national pure food laws. As they stand at present they really act as a premium to the mail order houses to gather trade at the expense of the local merchants. Certain articles which are under the ban of the Wisconsin law, yet within the scope of the national laws, can be purchased from mail order houses while local merchants can not supply the demand. This is an injustice to the taxpayer of the state and should be remedied. There is an advantage in uniform laws and the Wisconsin pure food statutes should conform with those of the national laws. In discussing this question recently the Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin handled the matter in the following manner:

"Experiences in many instances have developed the fact that there is danger of abuse even in so good a thing as pure food legislation. Perhaps this is a crude way of stating the proposition intended to be enforced. What is meant is that there have been instances in which enthusiasm for pure foods has been a factor in the enactment of statutes that instead of protecting consumers enable certain selfish interests to exploit them.

"Wisconsin is one of the states in which there have been anomalous conditions, injurious to home interests, arising out of the operation of statutes framed ostensibly for promoting the cause of pure foods. One such instance—there are many—was specifically referred to in these columns not long ago, in which the effect of a Wisconsin statute was not to prevent the sale of a popular and wholesome food product, but to hedge it about with absurd restrictions, which had the effect of taking the trade out of the hands of Wisconsin merchants and putting it into that of outside jobbers and mail order houses.

"With the principle that foods should conform to their labels no fault-finding person can find fault, but surely it is not for the good of the public to insist on costly changes in labels for the purpose of making goods salable by retailers in this state, when the goods as at present put up are not labeled so that they will deprecate. Arbitrary regulations hastily devised in the desire to accomplish something for the cause of pure food may be hurtful to the public interest. Obviously the best way to handle the pure food problem is by the enactment of uniform laws.

"With the federal pure food officials and the various state pure food officials all banded together to enforce the same legislation there should be safety for all the legitimate interests affected.

IN THE OPEN.
Now that all nomination papers have been filed, now that the voters know who are going to run for the various nominations at the coming primaries it is time to hear from the candidates themselves as to the real reasons why they are seeking the office. Come into the open, gentlemen, and take the public into your confidence. Give your real reasons for aspiring to office and let the people judge for themselves as to your merits or demerits. The ideal form of municipal government would be where no politics existed where the office sought the best man and there was not a mad scramble for a place on the ticket. As long as the present system exists it has come down to a race between rival candidates and often the less deserving is nominated. Come on, gentlemen, and let us know what you want to be a city officer for.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE.
With the advent of each legislative year there appears in the Wisconsin legislature a woman's suffrage measure for consideration. This is true of other states and today the suffragette movement in the United States is becoming stronger and stronger each year. The Chicago Evening Post, in an editorial published several years ago, characterized the situation in the following manner:

"The industrial independence of women seems to be more theoretical than practical. It is a tribute of political economy that the first requirement of a state is citizens. If in any nation the birth rate does not exceed the death rate by a considerable percentage, that nation is moribund. It follows, therefore, that the great majority of women must spend several decades of their lives in bearing and rearing children. It is a physiological fact that in justice to herself, her children and to society at large, the child-bearing woman ought not to be compelled to labor for her own support. Her maternal duties constitute an insurmountable handicap in the labor market.

"The present social order meets this condition of things by providing that the father of her children shall, through the institution of marriage, labor for her support and that of their children, be attending to the external duties of their united life, and she to the domestic affairs. If woman is to become industrially independent of man some other way of providing for her support during her child-bearing years must be devised. Socialism puts this responsibility upon the state, together with that of caring for the children. What then becomes of marriage and the home? Is there any escape from the conviction that the industrial and political independence of woman would be the wreck of our present domestic institutions. May it not be possible that an intuitive sense that woman suffrage is incompatible with the present relations of men and women in the home, has something to do with the fact that, as is generally admitted, an overwhelming majority of women do not desire the ballot."

There is not an alderman in the council that does not in the bottom of his heart want new street signs and the delay in taking action on the present proposition now before them for consideration is only due to a desire to safeguard the city's interest by requiring a proper bond. That is right, gentlemen. We want the street signs but we want them right when we do get them, and if the present offer is not a good one why turn it down and wait until you get one that is.

That order to clean up the city passed the council last night is one of the best that has yet been issued. Let the alleys and back yards be cleaned and then let the city health officer see that they are kept clean. Stop dumping refuse in lots in the residence district and establish a municipal garbage system, if need be, but keep the city clean.

Turning back the hands of the clock in the halls of congress so that the constitution will not be fractured, is child's play, but still each congress wants to live as long as possible, even if its death warrant was read out at the November elections the year previous.

Sixty New York hens laid 1009 eggs during February? Before such an onslaught it is no wonder that the high price of living trembles.

The drawing for seats of the next senate still leaves La Follette on his old side of the upper house, the democrat, by choice though he is understood.

Canada's surplus was estimated at $20,000,000 for the past year but Champ Clark is asked to say nothing about it to anyone.

THE POET PHILOSOPHER

(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams.)
By WALT MASON.

A certain man infests our town who views all falsehoods with a frown. He never has, since early youth, dashed up a word that wasn't truth. From his chaotic lips, in catenacts, there comes a ceaseless flow of facts, and all his facts are state and old. With mournful sighs his truth he springs, with frowns, from his facts he sings. All the folks are and and some, and he's been dubbed the Village Bores. A cheerful liar lies in town who thrives the truth and holds it down; of course he is a bad, bad man, constructed on a shifty plan, but when he would some yarn commence, he always has an audience. I never yet could understand why truth, through out this pleasant land, is held a solemn, gloomy thing that should our winning bosoms wring. It's cheerless as an epitaph; few men will tell the truth and laugh; and that perhaps, is why the who have such a lurking love for lies.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

WRINKLES.
I clipped this from the "Beauty" page of a Sunday newspaper:
"Wrinkles are caused by tired muscles. They are more easily prevented than cured. To remain wrinkleless woman must live a placid existence, free from all emotion."

Certainly, but—
I would be pleased to see the picture of the woman—except she be a barren beauty or of the leisure rich—who is able to live a placid existence free from emotion.
Emotion is a real woman's life. If the sensations do not come to her she will seek them. She lives mostly in her heart. For that is such a woman. She cannot escape her destiny.

Only in childhood may woman live a more or less "placid life, free from emotion."
As a young married woman she will face the trials of the new housekeeper. The process of readjustment to wedded life is not easy, and sometimes it is made to the accompaniment of many tears. Shall she desert because of muscle tire?

Free from emotion!
As the wife a woman must share the burdens and divide the sorrows of her husband. She cannot live the placid life and let him go his way alone. She must perforce wrinkle her brow over many problems.

The placid life?
She must suffer all the pangs of motherhood. Can she live a life free from emotion, her heart clutching in an agony of love and fear through the watches of the night, lest she lose her loved one's? What thinks a mother at such a time? What cares she about herself or mere wrinkles of the face?

Moreover—
What sort of woman would she be if she escaped those shocks and pulls on her feelings? She must be aimless, for purpose means struggle; loveless, for love means sacrifice.

Do not mistake.
Woman may escape much needless worry and useless anxieties. Modern woman is learning how to rest her tired muscles and nerves by rest and relaxation. But—

At its best woman's world is a hard and trying world. She must face it. And sooner or later the wrinkles must needs come to her.

Let her not be ashamed.
The dearest faces you know are wrinkled faces. Is it not so? Every wrinkle tells a story of vicarious atonement.

The sweetest face in all the world to me was a wrinkled face. The last time I looked upon it was at the coffin side. It was the face of my mother.

The Magnetic Pole.
The north magnetic pole has been actually located at 70 degrees and 6 minutes north latitude and 93 degrees and 46 minutes longitude. The south magnetic pole has not yet been located, but it is believed to be about 73 degrees south latitude and 150 east longitude. It is known, however, that the two magnetic poles do not lie at the extremities of a diameter of the earth.

The Mother of Clubs.
Mrs. Caroline Severance, who is called the mother of clubs, celebrated her 81st birthday recently in her home in Los Angeles. She is quite up to date in every way and laughs at the anti-suffragists. She says she remembers a Boston man telling her that once women were not even allowed to attend lectures. She believes in co-operative housekeeping and she thinks that factories should be outside the limits of cities.

Art Criticism.
"I rather like the motif of that picture," said Mrs. Oldcastle, after she had carefully inspected the new work of art. "Yes, so do I," replied her hostess, as they were passing from the gallery. "Only both me and Josiah thought the artist meant it for a cow."—Chicago Record-Herald.

People are naturally skeptical about anybody really extracting teeth painlessly.

They hear that I can do it, but they come in timidly, accompanied by a bunch of neighbors who come along to see if the thing really can be done.

It is amusing to see the half-frenzied expression on their faces as the pleased patient enthusiastically declares that "Dr. Richards didn't hurt."

It seems almost impossible, but I am doing just that thing every day. Extracting teeth absolutely without pain.

I crown teeth also painlessly. My prices are the most reasonable in the city.

BABY GIRL DIED IN BURNING HOME

LITTLE FOUR YEAR OLD BOY WAS BADLY BURNED.

LATE MONDAY AFTERNOON

In Fire Which Destroyed William Boyce Home On the River Road.

Hazel Boyce, aged two years is dead, and her brother, Hughie, aged four, is in a critical condition with burns about the face and hands as the result of a fire which completely destroyed the home of William Boyce on the River road near the stone quarry late yesterday afternoon. Two other children escaped unharmed.

Mrs. Boyce left the four little tots alone in the house while she went to the home of Mrs. Daisy Congrove nearby to get some water. The little girl, Hazel, was tied to a chair in the kitchen to keep her from getting into mischief and the baby, Chester, in the cradle in an adjoining room.

She had no more than reached the Congrove place, when she heard the cries and shrieks of her babies coming from the home.

Accompanied by Mrs. Congrove and a nurse, Henry Collins, who rushed to the scene only to find the house a mass of flames and none of the children in sight. The work of taking the children from the burning house took but a few minutes. Elmer, aged three years ran into a front room where the mysterious fire started, it is thought, and was rescued unharmed by Collins.

Mrs. Congrove succeeded in carrying out the baby who had remained in the cradle and who was untouched by the flames and the mother brought out Hughie.

If the fire started from the kitchen range as it is thought, the little victim of this terrible calamity, perished within a few moments, and her charred remains were taken out a short while after.

As much of the household goods as was possible were saved and the mother who was prostrated by the shock, together with the child victim were taken to the neighboring house, a doctor summoned and the father who is employed at the Baker Coal company notified.

The fire started so quickly after Mrs. Boyce left the house and the structure bent itself so readily to the flames that the whole thing was over in a remarkably short time.

While the origin of the fire that resulted in such destruction will probably never be known, it is safe to say that in playing around the stove, the older child in some way caused the flames to catch the paper covered wall near it and that the spread was rapid. Today the mother lives in a state of collapse at the home of her neighbor and the father wanders about the scene of his loss in a dazed condition. The family moved here a year or so ago from near Marshfield. In this state, and since that time has been in the employ of Mr. Baker in his coal yard.

The terrible loss of the home and child comes as a blow from which it will take many years to recover. Not a portion of the small house remains standing and very little of the furniture was saved.

COMMITTEE OPENED BIDS FOR BRIDGES

Central States Bridge Company of Chicago Gets Contract for Construction of Both New Bridges.

Bids for the construction of two bridges over the river at Fourth avenue and Racine street were opened by the street assessment committee, composed of Mayor W. F. Carlo, City Engineer C. V. Korch, and Aldermen Buchholz, Hall and Sheridan, at two o'clock this afternoon in the council chambers at the city hall. Fifteen contracting companies submitted their separate bids on the two structures, filling with the bids certified checks for $5,000 to signify their sincerity in accepting the contract should it be awarded to them. The lowest bid on both bridges was the Central States Bridge company of Chicago, who offered to put up a steel structure at Racine street according to the plans submitted by the city engineer for $14,400, and at Fourth avenue for $21,850. The committee will probably make the last of this week or the first time being impossible as the city engineer will be out of the city. The bid which the committee decides is the best proposition, will be recommended to the common council and the award made by that body.

A number of bids will be given no consideration by the committee, being in excess of the amount appropriated by the council. Six offers on each bridge, however, were picked from the number as lowest and the selection will probably be made from those. The six best bids for each bridge are:

Racine Street Bridge.

WILL RE-ESTABLISH THE OLD DISTRICT

Wisconsin Telephone Company Evidently Plans For Changes In Departments.

According to a morning dispatch from Kenosha, Wis., the Wisconsin Telephone Company for the past three years has been planning to re-establish the old district of the Wisconsin Telephone company's service. At the present time there is no such district, the Janesville district having been consolidated with the Madison district when Mr. Oliver was transferred to Racine two years ago. The local office knows nothing of the proposed change but it is possibly brought about by the changes that are being made in the local exchange service.

WINS $30,000 IN DAY

OFFICE BOY IN KEENE'S OFFICE MAKES CLEAN-UP.

Bells 500 Shares of Hocking Valley "Short" and Realizes When Pool Durets.

New York, March 7.—How an office boy can win $30,000 in Wall street speculation in short order was the get-rich-quick exploit unfolded by W. J. Roman, a telephone boy in the office of James H. Keene.

He made this amount when the bottom dropped out of the Hocking pool, according to his testimony in the bankruptcy proceedings of Lathrop, Haskins & Co., one of the stock exchange firms caught in the collapse of the pool.

Creditors of the firm are endeavoring to show that Mr. Keene was responsible for the failure of the pool and that young Roman, knowing that the collapse was imminent, turned his knowledge to good account.

Roman testified that when the crash came he had already sold 500 shares of Hocking coal at figures which prevailed during the upward movement. He had heard of the trouble over night and wanted to "get out," he said.

Mr. Keene knew nothing of his transactions, he testified, and he kept the stock in his own safety vault in the produce exchange. After the crash he bought back 500 shares of Hocking at 28, he declared.

According to Roman he has a $5,000 account with a trust company, and owned 312 shares in different railroad companies.

He balked at stating his salary, but finally wrote the amount on a slip of paper and handed it to the referee.

MRS. MELBER'S TRIAL BEGUN

Woman Pleads Not Guilty to Forcing Acid Down Her Infant Boy's Throat.

Albany, N. Y., March 7.—Mrs. Edith Melber, charged with murdering her five-year-old boy, George, by forcing carbolic acid down his throat in a swamp on the outskirts of this city on January 10 last, was placed on trial in the criminal branch of the supreme court here. The court was thronged, principally by women, while crowded, unable to gain admission, braved a heavy snow storm and lingered about the doors, hoping to get a glimpse of the prisoner.

The accused woman evinced no nervousness as she walked to the bar for arraignment. Her attorney, John Dugan, entered a plea of not guilty.

BROKER VICTIM OF TRICK

Discovers He Was Robbed of $25,000 Worth of Securities by Two Police Young Men.

New York, March 7.—Aaron Bancroft, the oldest active broker in New York, has discovered he has been tricked out of $25,000 worth of securities in the basement vaults of the Produce Exchange building.

According to Mr. Bancroft, who is over eighty-four years old, a young man knocked him down, seemingly by accident, in a narrow hallway, as he was on his way to the safety deposit box of his firm to lock up a paper wallet containing the securities.

Another young man helped to pick him up and brush his coat. One of the two picked up the wallet which he had dropped, and Mr. Bancroft believed that it was returned to him intact.

He put the envelope in the box and came away, and there it remained until his son, George Bancroft, went for it. The younger Bancroft brought the packet back to his desk, where he unfolded the fastenings. Inside was a sheet of newspaper scraps, and nothing more.

TESTING RAILROAD MEN.

When we are spending over the line at sixty miles an hour we little realize how much is dependent on the one pair of eyes and the one pair of ears of the engineer who has our train in charge, nor do most travelers realize what severe tests he has been subjected to in order to obtain and hold his position.

When a candidate for such a position as that of engineer first presents himself his examination is most searching, and if there be even an incident weakness he is turned back. If he be young his certificate of examination will serve him for two years. As he grows older he is more frequently examined, but his powers of sensation may have suffered alteration.

The hearing is carefully examined, for he must be able to receive and interpret the whistle code, and his work is usually done in the midst of a great uproar of irrelevant sounds. Moreover, he must be able to detect it instantly if the noise made by his own engine indicates that something has gone wrong and must be at once remedied.

But it is the eyes which receive the greatest attention on the part of the examiner, who travels up and down the line with his test car, summoning every man into his presence. The engineer is first tested as to each eye and both eyes together in the reading of letters.

Then comes the color test, most important of all, because signals are given by color, chiefly at night, when, owing to the darkness, the engineer has nothing else to guide him. Not a few men are color blind, unable to distinguish easily between colors and particularly at a loss to make out red from green when red means "danger" and "stop" and "open switch" and green means "clear track." Some roads use white, yellow and purple colors, too, and each must be instantly recognized. The color tests are made by colored yarns and test lights.

His Photographic Plates Spoiled.

A New York photographer recently learned to his sorrow, that the gas mantle emits a ray. He had stored away a large number of plates in a dark place and inadvertently left a gas mantle near the plates. They remained in the place for a month, and when the photographer took his plates out he found all of them fogged. The mantle contained thorium, a radioactive substance that penetrates a cardboard plate box as easily as it goes through glass. The man didn't know this, but now he knows better than to leave gas mantles near his plates.

An Impractical Suggestion.

"You must learn to trust your fellow-men," said the professional optimist. "There's no use in talking that way to me," answered the world-weary citizen. "I'm in the grocery business."

SUPERIOR METHODS

When Neville arrived at the family's summer home to spend the whole last week with them, instead of his usual week-end, he eyed with disapproval two trunks which loomed in the middle of the living room.

"I thought," Mrs. Neville explained, "that I'd begin packing leisurely, so that I should not be rushed to death the last day or so of our stay here."

"Nonsense!" said Neville. "You are to come out and enjoy this beautiful weather and I'll see that everything is done in time."

It was then that the heart of his wife sank. For she had been married several years and she knew Neville.

His enemies say that Neville always lurks around corners until two minutes of train time or boat time, in order to make a spectacular entry on the scene and catch his conveyance at the very last moment. This is particularly infuriating to those who have broken their necks to get there a half hour before and have to endure his condescending scorn as being lacking in system and a well-balanced brain.

In short, he is one of those persons who always wait till the last minute to do things, and everyone knows that nature of that kind are very wearing to have in one's family.

"Arthur," Mrs. Neville objected on this occasion, "you don't understand. There will be two trunks of mine and two of the children's, and the box of bedding and the barrel of dishes and the canned fruit, and I've got to put away all the curtains and some of the books and cover up things and—"

Neville smiled at her patiently. When he does that you always yearn for an ax and the privilege of wielding it in his direction.

"I am not going to have you fret and work yourself to death, Mary," he said. "Come out and take a row with me. I'll show you how unnecessary all your usual fuss and worry is."

Thus it came to pass that when the Neville family arose on the morning of their last day everything was yet to do. Neville came downstairs in some what of a hurry because he had overslept. Mrs. Neville already was deep in the trunks.

"Have you packed my old suit?" he asked. "I want it to work in."

"I hung your old suit in the garage," his wife told him.

"I will pack the bedding," Neville said, as he dashed upstairs after the clothes in question.

An hour later his wife went up to look for him.

"Where are the pillows?" she asked. "And you know we leave the sheets and linen. And I never take the sofa pillows—I see they are gone, too."

Neville raised a perspiring face from the box he was making. "Mary," he said, reproachfully, "do you mean to say that I've got to unpack all this? It is the result of your abominable lack of system. How was I to know?"

"You weren't supposed to know," said his wife acidly. "If I'd got those trunks done when I wanted to I could have packed this box myself. Suppose you go down and attend to the book shelves and the canned fruit and—"

But Neville was gone. He was still walking around with books in his hands when it was time for lunch. After lunch mad confusion reigned in the household. Little Billy Neville rolled down cellar with a bottle of jelly and the cook dropped a flatiron on her foot. Mrs. Neville with curtains in her hands fell over a can of preserved strawberries, which smashed on the rug. Yawning trunks spilled their contents right and left and the rooms resembled rummage sales in full progress. Neville was staring and panting. When the man with the wagon arrived for the baggage nothing was ready and it was within half an hour of leaving time.

"Where's my good coat?" Neville roared, as he tore about the place. "And there isn't a towel to use, and look at my face and hands! Who took my coat?"

"You rolled it up in the bundle of rugs, papa," said Billy. "I saw you." And the rugs had been taken to the station at noon by the accommodating vegetable man. There was nothing left but the old work coat with frayed edges.

After the trunks had gone they found that Mrs. Neville's bag with all the door keys had been locked up in the steamer trunk. Nobody had remembered to drain the water pipes and the boiler. The canna bulbs had not been packed away in sand. The garden hose still sprayed out in the yard unattended to and there were five bushels of potatoes in the woodshed waiting to be put in bags for shipment.

At the last minute there was a wall when the guestroom closet was found to contain Neville's white flannels, two of Mrs. Neville's summer frocks and all the golf clubs.

At this Neville stalked, a grim figure with scowl face and flying hair, to the telephone, while the anguished family watched him wonderingly. He glanced around at the scene of desolation and then he spoke.

"I'm going to phone the drug store in the village," he said, "to stop that wagon as it passes with the trunks and send them back. We really don't have to go today. It takes more time to get ready than I figured on."

"Well," said Mrs. Neville, "in glad to see you are getting a little sense at last, Arthur. I really begin to have hopes of you."

INDICT SEVEN IN ALASKAN FRAUDS

One Chicago and Six Detroit Men Are Held.

CONSPIRACY IS THE CHARGE

Development Company Officials Are Accused of Using 300 Citizens to Make Pictitious Coal Land Entries.

Detroit, Mich., March 7.—The local federal grand jury, which has been investigating mining land frauds, returned an indictment charging one Chicago and six Detroit men with conspiracy to defraud the United States out of 48,000 acres of coal land valued at over $50,000,000.

The defendants are: John M. Bushnell of Chicago, Wilbur W. McAlpine, Albert H. Roehm, George W. Ross, Frank D. Andrus, Arthur L. Holmes, McCurdy C. Le Beau, all of Detroit.

The seven men are officials of a company known as the Michigan-Alaska Development company.

Used 300 Individuals.

The contention of the government is that the defendants conspired to induce between 200 and 300 individuals to become stockholders in the Michigan-Alaska company by making "fraudulent and fictitious locations of certain Alaska coal lands," thereby violating the land entry laws of 1910, which made it illegal for more than four persons to form a company for locating Alaska coal lands and taking out patents on more than 40 acres.

It is alleged that the several stockholders of coal land claimants were led to believe that they were locating the lands for their exclusive use, "but in truth and in fact for the use and benefit of the seven defendants and the Michigan-Alaska Development company."

The Michigan-Alaska Development company was organized under the laws of Arizona. W. W. McAlpine is the president.

Where Land Is Located.

The coal lands involved are situated at Juneau, Alaska, and several contiguous tracts in the vicinity of Homer, upon the westerly end of Kodiak peninsula, bordering upon Cook Inlet. The claims are said to have been located by about 200 Detroit and Michigan residents and a hundred other claimants from New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Seattle and other western points.

It is declared by the defendants that strictly individual entry of the lands has been made and that the Michigan-Alaska company was organized as a benefit association for the purpose of aiding the stockholders or claimants to better protect their title and develop their lands. They deny stock was to be sold and they insist the corporation was not formed for the exploitation of the coal lands in the general market.

The body was riddled with bullets, 75 at least piercing the body.

Ayres and his wife were tried for the murder of his mother-in-law last September. The wife was acquitted and Ayres was given a new trial.

RULES BODY CHOSEN

DEMOCRATS SELECT SEVEN MEMBERS FOR NEXT CONGRESS.

Majority of Ways and Means Committee Make Start in Framing House Organization.

Washington, March 7.—The rules committee of the next house of representatives was chosen by the ways and means committee as follows: Henry (Texas), Pou (North Carolina), Hardwick (Georgia), Stanley (Kentucky), Garret (Tennessee), Foster (Illinois), Denver (Ohio), all Democrats. Four Republicans remain to be chosen.

The majority of the committee has started on a series of all-day meetings during which they will frame the organization of the next house.

There was some discussion by the committee of the program of tariff revision, but the committee is deliberating carefully over that, which is the greatest task before it and which it expects to complete in time to report to congress soon after it convenes on April 4.

The Democratic members of the committee realize that there is considerable difference of opinion among the house membership in their party as to the methods of revising the tariff, some favoring a wholesale bill and others schedule by schedule. In accord with the views of leaders like Messrs. Clark and Underwood, there is no conclusion yet as to whether the schedules are to be tackled on the Canadian reciprocity bill so that a vote in the senate against the schedule revision would be striking a blow at the reciprocity agreement, though the bill will carry out the terms of the agreement in good faith.

One of the things the committee has considered is the elimination of useless offices at the capitol, mostly in the humble capacities. There are upward of 600 places which have salaries attached to them at the capitol, and some of the Democrats believe that a weeding out of the useless ones might save $100,000 a year to the government.

REBELS' RIFLES ARE SEIZED

U. S. Marshals Capture Guns and Ammunition Belonging to Mexican Insurrectionists in Texas.

Galveston, Tex., March 7.—A posse of deputy federal marshals seized a shipment of 800 guns and about 2,000 rounds of ammunition which was being unloaded at Souderson, Pecos county, Texas.

The shipment of rifles, intended for Mexican insurrectionists, was holed for a future, and shipped as such in a dozen cases, while the cartridges were shipped as sewer pipe.

Naco, Ariz., March 7.—A battle has occurred between the insurrectionists and federalists near Cananea, the big Greene Copper mining camp in Mexico.

Travelers who arrived from Cananea report that wagon loads of federal wounded were being brought into the town when they left. As the train on which the travelers arrived not under way for this place federal cavalry could be seen moving rapidly toward the town. From this it is believed the rebels were victorious.

WILL ATTACK STEEL TRUST

Rep. Stanley Says New Congress Will Start Inquiry Into Operations of Huge Combine.

Washington, March 7.—Searching inquiry into the existence and operations of the so-called "steel trust" will be one of the first actions taken by the incoming congress, according to Representative Stanley of Kentucky. Mr. Stanley introduced a resolution in the closing days of the congress just ended providing for such an inquiry, but it failed of action in the final rush of the session.

He declared today that he had canvassed the members-elect to the coming congress and with the Democrats already pledged to support such a resolution the passage of the order is believed to be assured.

TRIES TO POISON FAMILY

Cook, Rebuked by Mistress, Puts Strychnine in Drinking Water—Is Arrested—Confesses.

Philadelphia, March 7.—Smarting under rebukes given her by her mistress, Kate Gibbons, a cook in the home of Walter H. Grove of this city, a son of Henry S. Grove, president of the Crump Shipbuilding company, and a nephew of E. T. Stottsbury, financial ally of J. P. Morgan, attempted to poison the whole family.

The woman was arrested and confessed. She said she had put poison into the bottles containing the family drinking water. It was discovered by the nurse who noticed that it was bitter. A chemist analyzed the water and found that it contained a quarter of a grain of strychnine to the gallon. The Groves' three children were thrown into convulsions by the water and it was the physician's suspicion of poison that led to the investigation.

FARMERS PROPOSE NEW PHONE COMPANY

Milton Junction People Are Dissatisfied With Proposal To Raise Telephone Rates.

Milton Junction, March 7.—Farmers in this vicinity are excited over the proposed raise in rates of the local telephone company and a new company may be formed. At present the farmer is paying fifteen dollars a year for phone privileges which, it is alleged, is not sufficient remuneration for the company who has petitioned the state commission to be allowed to raise the rates.

It is not known as yet whether the right to raise the rates will be granted or not, but the farmers and business men here are seriously considering the advisability of starting a new company. It is claimed that other companies have been formed under similar circumstances and the charges have been below those which are paid at present. Nothing of a definite nature, however, will be started until word is received from the commission at Madison.

MORGAN HONDURAN FINANCE SCHEME STRIKES SNAG.

Washington, D. C.—The clever plan by which J. Pierpont Morgan and affiliated financiers were to clean up Honduras by Honduras bonds has struck a snag in the United States senate.

Under the diplomatic policy of Secretary Knox it was planned to aid Honduras finances by the United States virtually guaranteeing Honduran bonds to financiers. This would have placed the United States in a most delicate diplomatic position and would undoubtedly have been the means of adding immense profits to those who purchased the bonds.

At the present time Honduran paper is being sold at practically any price the purchaser wishes to pay. It was the plan of J. Pierpont Morgan, who has, it is alleged, purchased a large amount of these bonds, to redeem them at 15 per cent. of their par value. With the United States in charge of the Honduran custom house practically guaranteeing Honduran bonds, they would immediately become marketable and of definite value.

In the United States senate this plan ran up against Senator Smith of Michigan and Senator Shively of Indiana, who were exceedingly doubtful about the United States forming a partnership with J. Pierpont Morgan. Fenton B. McGreevy, present minister to Honduras, is familiar with the Central American situation. It was because of McGreevy's experience in Santa Domingo and the desire to introduce a similar arrangement in Honduras that he was transferred to the storm center of government in Tegucigalpa.

Use for Scotch Water Power.

The growing industry of extracting aluminum has stimulated the search for water-power in the British Isles, because the extraction of aluminum is so expensive that only low-cost power can be economically employed. In this respect Scotland, with its mountains, is coming to the front. The water power at the falls of Foyers, in Scotland, has hitherto been the largest in Great Britain; but now a still larger plant, at Kinlochleven, utilizing the rainfall over a tract of 55 square miles, is about to be put into operation for the production of aluminum. Its nine hydraulic turbines, each of 3,200 brake horsepower, are the largest water wheels in the British Isles.

Intellect Ruled by Superstition.

A man more absolutely governed by pure reason than Lord Macaulay could not well be found, but in his diary he refers to an after-dinner talk about the feeling which Johnson had of thinking one's self bound to touch a particular rail or post and to tread in the middle of a paving stone, and he adds: "I certainly have this very strongly."

Little Bed-Time Tales By EDITH HAVENS

The Battle of the Tear and the Smile

JUST where the tear and smile lived nobody seemed to know, but everybody who knew Bobby were sure that they lived somewhere in the house where he lived.

You see Bobby was a very funny kind of a little boy. Some days he would be just as happy and all day long the smile would come to play on his pretty little face, but other days he was sad and cross and the tear would come to play on his face. Now of course all you little boys and girls know that tears and little boys and girls should never meet if they possibly can help it, and at the same time that smiles and little boys and girls should be constantly together.

But Bobby had about half and half.

One day when Bobby came into the sitting room with the tears rolling down his cheeks, his mother looked up with surprise and said, "Why, dear, did you allow the tears to visit you again today? What is the matter?"

"I can't find my horse," wailed Bobby.

Mrs. Brown laughed. "But tears won't help you to find it," she said.

Bobby only cried the louder.

Wisdom in Old Adages.

"Strike when the iron is hot" and keep it hot by striking. "Take time while time is, for time will away." The English say. The Spanish proverb has it: "When the foot has made up his mind the market has gone by." The old Latin said: "Opportunity has half in front, behind she is bald; if you seize her by the forehead, you may hold her; but if suffered to escape, not Jupiter himself can catch her again."

Knew Her "Miaa."

"Haden't you better wash the dishes before we go?" said a man, who was taking a hired girl out for a walk; "your miaa will be sure to see them and scold you." "No, she'll not," replied the girl; "as soon as she learns I am going out for the evening, she'll spend all the time looking through my trunk."—Puck.

Town Built of Meerschaum.

The town of Valdeas, in Spain, is almost entirely built of meerschaum. Valdeas has on its outskirts great quarries of a meerschaum too coarse for pipe-making, and a meerschaum-belt town is the result—an ivory-white town that shines in the Spanish sun.

DECISION GOES TO RUSK IN DEBATE

That Literary Society of the High School Gave Unanimous Decision Over Forum Last Night.

Last evening by a unanimous decision the Rusk Lyceum was the winner in the debate between the Rusk Lyceum and the Forum. The question debated was: "Resolved that the cities of Illinois and Wisconsin, under 200,000 and above 1,000 inhabitants, should adopt the Commission Plan of Government as in existence in Galveston and Des Moines." Constitutionally conceded and salary not to be debated. The Rusk upheld the Affirmative side which was ably defended by Cunningham, Burdick and Korst. The Forum defended the present system and were presented by Noyes, Cannon, and Judd. The judges were Dr. Richards, Prof. Knudson, and Prof. Alexander.

Mr. Cunningham of the Aff. opened the debate. He set forth the fact that the Com. form of Gov't. was popular and was being adopted all over the U. S. He stated that between Dec. 1, 1910 and Jan. 31, 1911, twelve cities in Illinois adopted this form of gov't. He pointed out the errors of the present system as: 1. Ward lines and ward politics were a hindrance. 2. Right of granting franchises was abused. 3. Responsibility was scattered. 4. Delay was common. He stated that the city was a great corporation which should be run in a businesslike manner. He showed that the Com. plan was more democratic with its Initiative, Referendum and Recall than the present system.

Mr. Noyes opened the debate for the Negative. He stated that the plan was unpopular and had been defeated in many home cities. He said that the cities were at a disadvantage if they ever wished to return to their old form of gov't. because there special characters were forfeited. He argued that the city gov't. was superior to the state and national government and therefore since they had adopted a gov't. of three departments, the city should have a similar one.

Mr. Burdick continued the debate for the Aff. He proved that the Com. plan was a success: 1st, from an economical standpoint and 2nd, from the results it was able to bring about. He also proved that it was democratic for the people took part in all gov't. Mr. Cannon in continuing the Negative debate proved that the Recall was a costly political machine which the people could not afford to run and therefore would be a failure. He stated that the Mayor of Galveston had to much power and that the gov't. centered in three men would be an oligarchy. He stated that good commissioners would not leave their business for no short city office. Mr. Korst wound up the debate for the Aff. moving the Commission Plan, Economical, Democratic, and Successful.

Mr. Judd finished the debate for the Negative by proving the Des Moines Plan unfitted for the cities of Wisconsin and Illinois. He stated that since the Com. plan had failed in New Orleans and Sacramento it would also fail in the cities of Illinois and Wisconsin.

In rebuttal the Negative briefly refuted the arguments set forth by the Aff. The Aff. also briefly met the Neg. arguments.

An this debate was also a preliminary to the Janesville-Rockford debate, the judges picked the most meritorious men to represent Janesville. Cunningham, Korst, and Judd were chosen with Mr. Burdick as alternate.

NEW QUARTERS FOR MONROE POSTOFFICE

High Cost of Rent Has Resulted in Change of Location of Monroe Federal Building.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Monroe, March 7.—The local post-office is to be moved from its present quarters on the southeast corner of the square to the room in which the Commission building is located, on East Washington street, just around the corner from the postoffice. Uncle Sam's headquarters have been in the building owned by Fitzgibbons Bros. for many years and Postoffice Inspector J. P. Walker came here some weeks ago to renew the lease on the building which expires April 1st. However, the rental was raised from $25.50 a month to $100.00 a month, and as a result the inspector began looking for a cheaper location. Fitzgibbons Bros. offered the government the building hall room at $100.00 per month, and as this would mean a saving in rent from the present quarters of $120.50 a year, the change was warranted. The new location is opposite the site selected by the government for a federal building where the postoffice will be ultimately located. The new quarters will be fitted up and the postoffice will be moved some time during May or June.

Novel Assessment.

A novel death assessment has been issued by the Green County Remonstrant society, occasioned by the death of George Herby, who killed himself after firing a fatal shot into Fred Lechelt. Both parties were members of the society. The notice reads: "If you feel she is entitled to it, please send it with this card inside of thirty days. If you do not think you should pay for this death from suicide, your name will not be dropped from the society and you will still be in good standing."

EASTERN JERSEY COW BREAKS WORLD'S RECORD FOR MILK AND BUTTER.

Sophia 19th, Jersey, Owned in Lowell, Mass., Establishes New Mark in Dairy Line.

On a test authenticated by the Massachusetts Agricultural College Sophia 19th, a Jersey cow of Lowell, Mass., American Jersey Cattle Club, has broken the world's record for milk and butter fat for cows between the age of four and five years.

During the twelve months ending December 31, 1910, under the rules of the American Jersey Cattle Club, Sophia 19th gave 14,573 lbs. 3 oz. milk feeding 105 lbs. 11 ozs. butter or over half a ton. An accurate account was kept of her feed, and her milk sold at the per quart made a profit of $65.22.

The United States department of Agriculture's estimate in round numbers of the wealth produced each year by the 22,000,000 cows in the United States is $800,000,000, or on an average profit of $36.36 per cow. If more attention was paid to feeding and breeding it should be easy to increase the average profit per cow to at least one-tenth of the profit made by Sophia 19th which would raise the total to $1,240,000,000, an increase of four hundred and forty million dollars.

Roe's wedding day occurred on March 1st, and their children planned and successfully carried out a genuine surprise on their parents by having a number of their friends to a one o'clock dinner. Of their ten children and fifteen grand-children, eight children and ten grand-children were present. Two sons, H. J. Roe, Jr., of Riceville, Iowa, and W. Roe of Osage, Iowa, and their five children, and their parents a beautiful lot of flowers and their regrets at being unable to be present.

Their children presented them with an elegant hanging lamp as a token of love and as a reminder of the happy event.

Owing to the sickness many of their friends were obliged to send letters of regrets. Those of their friends who were able to go were Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Gleson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Peacock, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Roe, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Farnsworth, Sullivan Taft and sister Chlorella, Clinton, Iowa, and two sisters, Mr. M. L. Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running ear or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; thus cases of deafness are caused by a catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Guesswork in Life.

Silence and solitude are also wonderful solvers of problems and guessers of riddles. There is a good deal of guesswork to this life. It's not all logic. It's not all a choice between two goods. Many of these mysteries can never be unraveled, and we have to take a chance at them, do the best we can and let them go.

"Foley's Honey and Tar is the best cough remedy I ever used as it quickly stopped a severe cough that had long troubled me," says J. W. Kuhn, Princeton, Nebr. It is as safe for your children as yourself, and should be used in all cases of croup, whooping cough and measles cough. Refuse substitutes. Badger Drug Co.

CHAPTER XII.

A WELLSPRING IN THE DESERT.

IN the telephone station at the hotel Mount tried several times, and always ineffectually, to get a long distance connection with Warren Hall. Failing in this, he called up Gantry to ask if the traffic manager knew anything about the purpose and movements of his father. Gantry did not know, but he knew something else—a thing which proved the lack of the telegraph department.

"Come down here and tell me what you mean by sending telegrams to the vice president," he commanded, with jesting severity, over the phone.

Gantry was busy with the stenographer when Evan entered, but the traffic manager immediately postponed the business of the moment and disengaged the clerk.

"There is nothing to tell—more than you seem already to know," said Mount morosely in answer to Gantry's quest. "I have wired my resignation; that is all."

"But why?" persisted Gantry. "Because I am not going to be an unnecessary officer or after the fact—either if I know it," was the prompt rejoinder.

"An unnecessary to what?"

"To a criminal disregard for the laws of this state and of the nation. Gantry, if you and some others had your just deserts you would be breaking stone in the penitentiary this blessed minute."

"Suffering John," laughed the traffic manager, "somebody must have been hitting you pretty hard! Who was it, Evan?"

At another time Mount might have been less angry and more discreet.

"It was Mr. Simon P. Hathaway, president of the Twin Buttes Lumber company," he said.

Gantry drew a long breath, which ended in a low whistle.

"So that's what you were let in for, was it?" he exclaimed. And then he checked himself abruptly and went back to the principal contention: "But you're not going to quit, Evan. You can't afford to do that."

"Why can't I?"

"Because you have committed yourself right and left. No man can walk out of the ranks on the eve of a battle. You don't stop to consider the construction that will be put upon such hasty action on your part."

"I don't stop to consider anything, Dick, except the fact that I was evidently expected to commit it a criminal contempt for the law of the land, the law which, as a member of the bar, I have sworn to uphold. That was enough for me."

"But it won't be enough for Mr. McVickar," Gantry interposed. "If you can afford to drop out he can't afford to let you." Then, with sudden gravity, "I don't you better let me hold up that telegraph of yours for a few hours, Evan, until you've had time to think it over."

"I WON'T HAVE MY COMMUNICATIONS TAMPERED WITH."

Mount sprang from his chair in a white heat.

"Do you mean to tell me that you are already holding it up?" he demanded.

"I took the liberty temporarily," said the traffic manager coolly. "There is no harm done. Mr. McVickar is on his way west now, and he will be here in a day or two. Why not kill the message and have it out with him in person when he comes?"

But Mount was not to be appeased.

"I won't have my communications tampered with," he raged. "If you have given an order to have that telegram held out you can give another to have it sent immediately."

"All right," said Gantry, "just as you say." And he made no effort to detain the enraged one when Mount turned his back and strode away.

After the self-discharged political manager was gone the traffic man checked quietly and turned up a faced down paper which had been lying on his desk during the short and belligerent interview.

"Humph!" he mused, reading the typewritten lines over again. "The little lady was too fly for you this time, Evan, my boy. She was just prophetic enough to guess where and how you would go off the handle. Great little woman that; I believe she figures out more than half of the the moves in the honorable senator's game."

Evan Mount walked a half dozen blocks beyond the Inter-Mountain hotel before he had cooled down sufficiently to determine what to do next. As it chanced, the cooling down moment found him at the entrance of the public garage patronized by his father. Acting upon the impulse of the moment, he went in and asked if any of Senator Mount's cars were in the city. The garage manager replied that the big roadster was in, and Mount's decision was taken upon the spur of the moment.

A few minutes later he was behind the steering wheel of the fast machine, picking his way out of town.

Mount reached the entrance to the cottonwood shaded avenue at Warren Hall just before the dinner hour, and he was so far recovered from the attack of righteous indignation that he was able to meet his father and the others with a fair degree of equanimity.

In the back part of his mind, however, he held the fighting ultimatum in suspense.

At the dinner table the professor held forth dictatorially upon matters pertaining solely to the plover and never once suffered the table conversation to come within several millions of years of the twentieth century, and at the dispersal—only there was no dispersal—it was his father who led the way to the drawing room and persuaded Patricia to go to the piano.

The young man with the fighting determination in the back part of his brain was willing enough to listen to Grieg and Brahms as interpreted by Patricia, but the greater matter was still outweighing the lesser. Later, when Miss Amers had played herself out, the talk went back to the dinosaurs and the pterodactyls, and when Evan Mount finally went away to smoke he did it alone.

The Warrens drew was an annex to the dining room, and through the looped back portieres he could hear the animated hum of the prehistoric conversation, in which Patricia had now joined, as a loyal daughter should.

Hoping against hope that the professor would come some time to bed and that his father would come to the door for his bedtime whiff at the long stemmed pipe, Mount smoked and waited. When his patience was finally rewarded it was not the honorable senator who drew the portieres aside and entered the cozy smoking room. It was Patricia, and she was alone.

"I thought perhaps I should find you here," she said calmly, taking the easy chair at the opposite corner of the hourch. "Did we bore you to extinction?"

"Not quite," he laughed. "But since I hadn't got myself born 9,000,000 years ago I can't somehow seem to galvanize a very active interest in the dead and buried period."

"Nor I," she confessed frankly, "though for papa's sake I do try to. But for us who are living today there are so many problems of really vital importance, problems that the pterodactyls never knew anything about."

"I know," said the young man, half absently. "I am up against one of them right now, and I don't know how to meet it."

"Will it bear telling?" she asked. And he hoped that the sympathy in her tone was personal rather than conventional.

"Oh, say, see here," protested the man under fire; "you've got the wrong end by the ear, Evan. I'm not the 'transcontinental railway company.'"

"I know you are not, but to a greater degree than any other official in the management you have Mr. McVickar's confidence. If you don't feel competent to handle this thing on your own responsibility pass it up to those who can and have it understood that there must be no compromise."

"Great Scott!" murmured Gantry. "And you're on the pay sheets the same as the rest of us! But candidly, as man to man, Evan, the thing can't be done. We've got to play the game. They'll cut us alive if we don't. You needn't figure in it. It was a mistake letting him Hathaway go to you, and I said so at the time. But your—"

"The powers that be said it had to be that way, and I had to let him go and bail you all up. It didn't happen again. I can promise you that much, anyway."

Mount caught quickly at the host-tent pause.

"Who were the powers that be in Hathaway's case, Dick?" he demanded.

"I can't tell you that; honestly I can't, Evan," was the anxious refusal. "Don't ask me."

"All right; then I shall assume that Mr. McVickar was responsible," said Mount calmly, thus proving that he had not taken his degree in the law school for nothing.

"Oh, hold on; you mustn't do that, either," protested the unwilling occupant of the witness stand.

"Thank you," said the postgraduate, with the true Mount smile. "Now I know that it was my father. No; don't deny it. But we are wandering from the real issue. I've asked you for a promise, Dick. Will you give it?"

"I—I can't give it, Evan, and that's the truth."

"No; it isn't. But that was about what I expected you to say. Now hear my side of it. If you don't clean house—you and the other officials of the company—I shall not only resign; I shall take the field on the other side and tell what I know. I have been telling everybody that this is to be a campaign of publicity. I shall keep my word."

"Oh, you would not do that!" protested Gantry, now thoroughly alarmed. "You know too much—a great deal too much."

Mount got up and relighted his cigar with a match taken from the traffic manager's desk box.

"It's up to you," he said, with his hand on the doorknob, "let into communication with whatever powers that be there are that can give the necessary orders and see to it that the orders are given and that they are put in the way of being carried out. Dick, I mean what I say. It's a clean sheet—or an exposure that will make a lot of you wish that you had never been born."

"Hold on—one question before you go, Evan," pleaded Gantry, "and give me a straight answer. Is this another move of the honorable—of your father's?"

Mount's smile was as grim as any that Gantry had ever seen on the face of the honorable David.

"My father is much more likely to take sides with you, I am sorry to say. No, Dick; you've got only one man to fight, but you mustn't forget that his name also is Mount. Go to it and send me word and let the first word be that you have scolded the head of this lumber company snake. That's all for today. Goodbye."

Returning to his office in Temple court, Mount found that the morning mail had been busy with him also. There were three invitations from widely separated cities in the state, all based upon the newspaper reports of his Olympic speech, and the afternoon mail brought three more.

It was evident that the campaign of education had struck a popular chord, and the young political manager saw what a miraculous opportunity was opening for the railroad if only the "powers" that Gantry had refused to name could be broad enough and high minded enough to seize it.

After that for three weeks Mount scarcely saw his office in the capital. One appointment followed another in rapid succession, and everywhere there was a repetition of the welcome, extended by the Olympic winners—a cordial welcome, generous applause and kind hospitality at every turn.

It was not until he was deep into the fourth week of the hurlyburs to and fro that he began to admit a suspicion which grew like a juggler's rose when he had once given it place. These invitations, which were now coming from all parts of the state—could it be possible that they were all spontaneous? And if they were not—

If they were so many subtle moves in the great game he could see no possible end to be subserved by them save one—they were effectually keeping him away from the capital, which was the nucleus and center of the campaign activities.

Was there something going on at headquarters that "the powers" did not wish him to find out? Of one thing he was fairly well assured—Gantry was dodging him, was apparently keeping an accurate record of his movements, for whenever the hurlyburs to and fro permitted a flying visit to the capital Gantry was always out of town.

Hamilton's Genius.
Men give me credit for genius. All the genius I have lies just in this—When I have a subject in hand, I study it profoundly. Day and night it is before me. I explore it in all its bearings. My mind becomes pervaded with it. Then the effort which I make, the people are pleased to call it the fruit of genius. It is the fruit of labor and thought.—Alexander Hamilton.

Hands Full With Simple Branches.
Good teachers in any public school have hands more than full beating in reading, writing, spelling, grammar and geography in eight years without wasting time on fads. How many of a model school really learn the above simple branches? Teaching these free is enough for any city to do. Do any do it? Principals and teachers are good enough; it is the system that seems to be bad.

The Imagination of Corot.
Imagination and invention are often taken as the same thing, whereas they are as different as wit and humor. The question of imagination in a painter's work is not to be estimated in terms of literature, but in terms of paint. The delicate silver grays and cool, translucent greens of Corot are of the essence of imagination, as I understand the word.—R. B. Cunningham Graham.

The Ruins of Yucatan.
There is in Yucatan a chain of ruins three hundred miles long where once stood buildings richly decorated and erected with a vast amount of architectural knowledge. The buildings belong to the Stone Age, when the figures were carved with pieces of flint. The people of this age had not the use of either bronze or iron.

Base of Life.
Even in the midst of great enterprises domestic affections prove the basis of life, and the most brilliant career has only incomplete and superficial enjoyments if it be a stranger to the happy home of family and friendship.—F. P. G. Gutzut.

COMMON SENSE CURE FOR RHEUMATISM.

Rheumatism has for ages been a puzzle to the doctors. Some claim it to be an infection, a germ disease. Others claim that the cause is uric acid, a kidney disease. It is said that uric acid is carried by the blood into the small apertures of the joints and skin where it crystallizes and it is the small, sharp crystals that cause intense pain with every motion of the body by cutting into the flesh and nerves. Whatever the cause, the best relief known is an Alkaline Elixer of the Salicylates. The chemical nature of the Salicylates is to form soluble compounds with the urates. In this way these crystals are dissolved, taken up by the blood and taken out of the body by the kidneys.

This rheumatic elixer is taken in teaspoonful doses in hot water before meals. The cure is often in a day or two, yet the remedy should be taken for some time to thoroughly neutralize the blood and prevent a recurrence of the trouble. The eliminations, as the doctors would say, that is the kidneys and the bowels, should be kept active. Rheumatic Elixer is compounded by Mr. Pionist, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist, who would be pleased to give you any other information you wish. Sold at 50c. Success Won Early.
Decline success often is won early in life by stage folk. Dion Boucicault was famous at nineteen as the author of "London Assurance." Nat Goodwin's renown as a mimic was widespread before he was twenty; Edward E. Rice had turned his majority when he scored with "Evangelina;" Edna Wallace Hopper was in short skirts when she first became an idol of Broadway; George W. Lederer, at the height of his acclaim as a musical comedy producer at the New York Casino was but twenty-seven, and Richard Carle was a full-fledged comedy star at twenty-six.
